

Hawaii Calls

“Hawaii calls with a melody of love dear, across the sea as evening falls...”. This song was the theme for our radio show, which was broadcast live once a week for 40 years!

In 1935 a radio show broadcasts all over the world from under the shady Banyan Tree at the famous Moana Hotel located on Waikiki Beach. Listeners are enchanted by Mr. Don Ho singing a romantic tune. During this era, the South Pacific was visited by many who were enchanted by the Aloha Spirit.

Hula is a main attraction and loved by all. Hula Shows are becoming famous and a “must see” by tourists. Native Hawaiian girls mesmerize people with the soft swaying of authentic grass skirts. Tropical floral and fragrant leis are abundant and are a welcome to all visitors.

“The Duke” a famous surfer rode waves at Waikiki Beach and onlookers were in awe by his style. To this day a larger than life sculpture of “the Duke” is adorned on the boardwalk of Waikiki Beach.

Come join us to relive the era of “Hawaii Calls” with traditional hula dancers, soft breezes and a memorable moonlit evening of fun Hawaii style...
